Author: Wang Jing

Abstract:

After the first part of CBD COP 15, the question of how to conserve biodiversity after 2020 provokes more thoughts. As the main achievement of COP 15, Kunming Declaration bears hope and expectation for future biodiversity conservation. Facilitating financial support and promoting participation from all walks of life are essential, while Biodiversity Conservation in Our Neighborhood (BCON) could be a solution to the conflicts between development and biodiversity conservation.

Key words: Kunming Declaration, people's participation, BCON
